5 Easy Steps for Essay Writing

Throughout your life at college, you will always come across a professor who likes to give out topics for essay writing. This can't be helped except do the assignment yourself and hope to impress the professor with your writing prowess. However, writing an essay is not a simple feat. In fact, when you think about it, your essay grade could make or break your academic career.

Essays may seem to be just an assignment to some. However, essay writing is more than just that. It is a great tool that every person should learn how to use correctly. An essay is an avenue where you can conveniently have your voice heard by an important audience. More than just making it as a requirement, you can use it to impress another person, like your teacher, and show him how wonderful your mind is. Use it as communication tool to which you can freely express whatever you felt towards a certain idea. Nobody can steal your thoughts nor influence your ideas towards something. Writing an essay is the best way to showcase your knowledge and make other people see how interesting you are as a person.

Learning how to write the perfect essays may seem tough. This is true but not if you know the basic steps for essay writing. Having a guide on how to do them right will somehow ease you out of such a dilemma. Mastering just six easy steps will make you write like a pro and having commendable essays will be very achievable.

1. Determine the context of the essay. This basically means to identify the heart of the essay. One way to ace this task is by determining parameters for the topic. You can start by deciding who the audience should be, will it just be the teacher or will it be directed towards a specific populace like the children, perhaps?

Another parameter to define is the format of the essay. You should know the rules set by the teacher and follow them to get the best grade. Usually, the professor will provide you the topic but it is your job to pinpoint the focus of your essay. If in case you will be given the freedom to write for your choice of topic, make sure to have one that you are passionate about. Choose a topic that fires you up, so to speak. If you have a topic which you are so passionate about, doing the rest of the essay will be a breeze. You will not have difficult time learning about the nature of the topic nor have a hard time composing your sentences. This will give you a lot of advantages especially when you are still at odds on what to write about.

Another key to having the best topics for any essay is by determining which side of the argument you will most likely go to. Do you want to stay on the safe zone and write positively for a topic that you like? Or are you the kind of person who wants to challenge a certain idea? Whichever side you are on, what is most important is that it will propel you into forming solid ideas that will define the context of your essay.

2. Research about the topic. Essay writing is not all about giving your take on the matter. Well, you have to give your idea about it but you have to base it around truths from credible sources.

Focus on Essay Writing

Essay writing is a process and a product. You need to focus on the process in order to achieve a high quality product.

What is an essay?

The word 'essay' originally meant 'to test' or 'try out'. The academic essay, however, now has the more usual meaning of a short piece of analytical writing on a given subject.

Why write essays?

Essay writing is an essential part of the learning process. It involves:

- time management – meeting the deadline for the essay
- gathering information – appropriate resources and references
- interpreting and analysing the information
- organising and structuring your thoughts and ideas
- planning what you are going to write
- following a set of writing conventions
- communicating those thoughts and ideas clearly on paper
- reviewing the marked essay for future improvement

It's a learning curve. Your essay writing style will develop through practice and you will begin to write more clearly, objectively and persuasively. As your writing improves, your assessment grades should reflect that improvement. Finally, being skilled in writing clearly, objectively and persuasively must be an advantage to you for the rest of your life.

Preparation

Start your preparation early. Read the assignment as soon as you can. Devote about 20 minutes to reading it in detail. Write out the full title, don't be tempted to shorten it as this can be misleading. Highlight or underline key words. Display the title so that you can always see it. It acts as a reminder and it will keep you focused on the question. Keep everything you need together. Before writing, make sure you know the word limit, use A4 paper and re-read the question.
